

073 Management

Training according to curriculum "Transport Management" will allow students to acquire the necessary knowledge and relevant skills in the field of management of organizations of various modes of transport and their departments.

Graduates can hold primary positions characterized by special professional competencies in accordance with the generalized object of activity, namely:

- Managers (superintendents) in building, transport, post and communications;
- Managers (superintendents) in trade, hotels and restaurants;
- Managers (superintendents) in other economic activities, etc.

Training according to curriculum "Management of external economic activity" will allow students to acquire the necessary knowledge and skills in developing a strategy for entering the external market, making and implementing management decisions in external economic activity, organisation and implementation of external trade operations, use of evaluation tools and their effectiveness.

Graduates can hold primary positions characterized by special professional competencies in accordance with the generalized object of activity, namely:

- Managers (superintendents) in building, transport, post and communications;
- Managers (superintendents) in trade, hotels and restaurants;
- Managers (superintendents) in other economic activities, etc.

Curriculum "Logistics" - provides training for graduates in professional logistics activities, who are able to solve complex specialized problems in the field of logistics process management and organization of customer logistics.

Graduates can hold the following positions:

- Manager (superintendents) in building, transport, post and communications;
- Manager (superintendents) in other activities;
- Employees involved in the registration of stocks of materials and capital equipment, and transportation;
- Forwarder, etc.