

271.02 River and Sea Transport (Control of ship technical systems and complexes) provides education on control of ship technical systems and complexes and operation of ship power plants necessary for successful professional realization. It provides theoretical and practical training of ship engineers, who would acquire the competencies necessary to perform professional tasks and responsibilities on ships, and further professional and personal growth.

Training in this specialty provides employment in the following areas:

- Ship engineer;
- Ship systems engineer;
- Engineer in automation;
- Senior Captain- Mechanic;
- Ship Engineer - Captain Assistant;
- Ship Engineer - Commander Assistant;
- Group Fleet Engineer (on fleet);
- Port Fleet Engineer;
- Commissioner for the acceptance of ships from shipyards, etc.