

275.01 Transport technologies (of sea and river transport)

The specialty Transport technologies (of sea and river transport) provides professional training of specialists in the field of transport to acquire basic professional knowledge to perform professional tasks and responsibilities of an applied nature in the field of transport technologies, as well as the ability to work.

Graduates of the Transport technologies (of sea and river transport) specialty can work:

- dispatcher in transport companies;
- transport engineer;
- sea agent;
- forwarder;
- inspector of navigation safety;
- inspector of port supervision;
- surveyor;
- ship registration inspector;
- charterer;
- stevedore.